++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Often cloudy with brief brighter intervals today. Rain overnight.

Today:
Any early fog patches in the south slowly lifting. Then a rather cloudy day, but a few bright or sunny spells are still likely and in any sunshine it will again feel relatively warm. A gentle westerly breeze. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly cloudy this evening, but a few clear spells too. A band of rain will move south across the region during the second half of the night. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Friday:
Cloud and patchy rain largely pulling away to the south, with sunshine following on. A cooler feel, despite more sunshine and light winds. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A chilly start, especially further north and east on Saturday but steadily turning cloudier and milder again. Mostly cloudy on Sunday, then more unsettled and breezier next week.
